IMAGIN Volunteer of the Year

The Winner Is:

Michael Henderson
GIS Application Developer
InfoGeographics, Inc.

Over the past year, Michael has volunteered countless hours to the complete redevelopment of the IMAGIN website. Starting from scratch and given the freedom to build what he felt was appropriate, Mike developed a professional and engaging web presence for IMAGIN. The new site was deployed in December of 2012 and is continually being updated by the Communications Team for IMAGIN. In addition, Mike has begun structuring a new central database for all of IMAGIN's records and history. This singular, all encompassing database will house all membership and vendor information, all with a web based interface for accessibility.

MAKING THE CONNECTION

"Making the Connection" is the theme for IMAGIN's 2013 Annual Conference. This theme has many facets: to make the connection between the jobs we need to do and the technology and data that are available to allow us to do it and to make the connection between ourselves, our colleagues and the Michigan GIS community as a whole. An exciting series of social events, speakers, educational tracks and workshops is planned for the conference to ensure that personal connections are created by the end of the meeting. In preparation for the 2013 Conference, the Conference Committee is seeking proposals for breakout presentations. Submission of abstracts for breakouts may be done on-line.
